

Evacuate Homes In Wide Danger Areas; Death Toll Hits 26

Chicago, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Deaths attributed to flood waters rose tonight to 26 while residents in the stricken mid-west continued to hurriedly evacuate homes in widespread danger zones.

Nearly 300,000 were homeless. Many of them were ill from influenza, pneumonia, hunger or exposure. Medicine supplies and doctors were needed quickly in many flood bound towns. Property damage ran into unestimated millions of dollars.

FARLEY ADMITS DESIRE TO GET INTO BUSINESS

Describes Kind Of A
Job He Would Like To Have

Turns Down Offer to Head
Distilled Spirits Institute

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—James A. Farley described today the sort of a job he would like to have, if and when he should leave the Roosevelt cabinet. The postmaster general, in New York for his usual week-end of work at the headquarters of the Democratic national committee, shoved aside a pile of letters, dismissed the two stenographers to whom he had been dictating, moved over to a window-seat looking down on the Grand Central station ramp, and said:

"I would want something more than a selling job. I think I would be a good salesman. In fact, I know I would. But I would like an opportunity to build up an equity in a business. So I would have something more than just a salary for security for my family."

When Farley would leave the administration—in one month, or three months, or six months, or at a later date of speculation, Farley has never said when and would not say when today. That he would return to private business has been known for some time.

The "General" admitted he had received some offers already, which he declined to discuss. It was known, however, that he could not have accepted these offers and kept the chairmanships of the Democratic national and New York state committees; and he has never contemplated giving up the chairmanships.

Privately, on several occasions, Farley has said the only reason which would prompt him to leave the president's cabinet was the necessity of increasing his income.

From friends, it was learned that Farley was offered the position as head of the Distilled Spirits Institute, with a salary in excess of $100,000 a year, and he turned it down. Inasmuch as the institute would be interested in federal and state legislation, Farley believed the position was incompatible with his party posts.

This position subsequently was offered to W. Forbes Morgan, treasurer of the Democratic national committee, and it was understood Morgan would accept it. It was believed likely that Morgan would soon resign his committee post, for the same reason that prompted Farley to refuse the institute job.

There was another influencing factor, according to the postmaster general's close associates, in his decision not to accept the liquor institute position—a factor of political strategy pertaining to the 1938 governorship campaign in New York.

To have accepted, these associates said, would have closed the door on Farley for the nomination. Would he seek the nomination? That was another matter on which the national chairman has maintained silence.

WATER SUPPLY IN PORTSMOUTH IS CONSERVED

City Pumping Station
Out Of Commission;
Need Food

Deputies Placed at Soup And Bread Lines to Keep Order

Portsmouth, O., Jan. 23.—(AP)—With half of Portsmouth covered by the Scioto and Ohio rivers and half its 45,000 citizens homeless, City Manager Frank Sheehan urged tonight that the water supply be conserved. The city pumping station went out of commission late today as the Ohio reached a stage of 67.5 feet, and the supply of drinking water in the 22,700,000-gallon reservoir could not be replenished.

Sheehan said more than 2,000,000 gallons had been used in the last 24 hours, and that a water shortage was imminent. The city manager said he hoped to have the pumps taken from the inundated station and set up near the reservoir. Several days would be required for that work.

The pressing need was to save several hundred persons marooned in second story rooms and to get adequate food supplies to refugees who crowd all available hilltop buildings.

Flood water trapped 400 Negro refugees in the Washington school early tonight, but they were finally removed in trucks driven through waist-deep water to the Lincoln school. About 250 refugees were transferred from the Lincoln to the McKinley school, while about 400 others were removed from the new 1,000,000 court house which has several feet of water in it.

Sheehan planned to urge forcible removal of all persons in the flooded areas who have refused to abandon their homes. Hundreds of new deputies have been sworn. Ten were placed at each soup and bread line to maintain order.

An 11-car trainload of food from Columbus was halted five miles from the city, but the supplies were to be brought in by truck. Sheehan said much more food was necessary, as relief agencies have the care of between 18,000 and 20,000 on their hands.

Greenup, Ky., 18 miles up the river, surrendered to the rising waters late today, and a train was sent to evacuate the residents. Officials were uncertain that the train could get through and appealed by radio to hill residents to bring drinking water to the marooned citizens. All supplies had been exhausted.

The Central Telephone exchange in Portsmouth, menaced by the ever-rising waters, was moved to a higher building early tonight. Several hours were expected to be required for the move. Meanwhile, the radio was used to send out news.

At Frankfort, 2,500 convicts were ordered moved from the flood-bound state reformatory. Twenty-four of them broke from the prison, and plunged into six feet of water from the overtaxed Kentucky river. One escaped. The others turned back under the fire of guards.

Several square miles were submerged in Louisville. Some 6,000 were homeless. Drinking water was rationed. Theaters and schools closed. Transportation was badly crippled.

Between 8,000 and 10,000 left their homes in Paducah, Ky. More than half the town was inundated.

Water poured into the basements of the City Hall and jail at Newport, Ky. Prisoners howled their protests against the cold. One third of the town was covered by water.

Beds, food and clothing were loaded on a relief train at Indianapolis to relieve distress in Indiana's submerged regions. Five National Guard planes surveyed districts evacuated by 333,000.

Slum Youngsters
Dine With Heroes

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Up from the slums of "Hell's Kitchen" and New York's shadowy lower East Side, 800 bright-scrubbed youngsters lunched with their heroes today in the glittering ballroom of a Times Square hotel (Astor).

"There's Jack Dempsey!" "There's Lou Gehrig!" "There's Eddie Rickenbacker!" Gosh, I wish I could fly like him and shoot down all those planes like he did in the World war. . . . He musta shot fifty. . . .

"Hey, lookit Joe Cook. . . . He's a screamer!" "Vincent Lopez and his orchestra. . . . Golly!"

Others were there—Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey; Albert Payson Terhune, author; Gene Buck, Tex O'Rourke, Bert Lahr, Eddie Egan, Alexander Zuffall, the memory expert, and many more—volunteers in the first step of a nation-wide movement, fostered by the Adventurer's Club of New York, to salvage America's tens of thousands of underprivileged boys from having careers of crime.

"By buddy these boys meet their heroes face-to-face, we hope to start them out on the right road," explained Raymond D. Schneider, president of the Adventurer's club, who originated the idea.

PRINCE MICHAEL
Florence, Italy, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Prince Michael, 15, heir to the throne of Rumania, underwent an appendectomy at a hospital here today. A hospital bulletin said he was progressing "nicely."

King Carol, his father, inquired by telephone concerning Michael's condition.

HIT AND RUN
Ashland, Neb., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Philip Harvey, 68, of Morris, Ill., was fatally injured by a hit-run driver near South Bend tonight. Taken to Ashland, he died in a doctor's office.

Harvey was a blacksmith with a bridge crew working near South Bend.

Los Angeles, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Gilda Gray, who won fame as exponent of the "shimmy dance," filed suit today for divorce from her husband, Tector De Bricono De Saa. She charged cruelty.

Kentucky Refugees Find Haven in Jail

Any shelter that was dry and out of reach of the raging Ohio river flood waters which drove them from their homes looked good to residents of the lower sections of Carrollton, Ky. Pictured here, taking refuge in the Carrollton city jail, are Mrs. John Crawford, seated, and Mrs. Maggie Maxter, with their children. Others fled to school houses, private homes.

Highway Superintendent Tells Ohio Flood Story

Editor's note: Col. Lynn Black, superintendent of the Ohio State highway patrol, dictated the following account of the flood situation to Columbus from Portsmouth, where he is directing relief and rescue work of the state patrolmen.

Portsmouth, O., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Heroism has tempered the horror of this flood as it sweeps down the great Ohio valley.

We have a grave situation here. Thousands of people are homeless. Many are trapped in the second stories of their homes, unwilling to desert their belongings.

But we have had no deaths and few injuries. The splendid cooperation of volunteer and official rescue workers and of the citizens of Portsmouth should be remembered as long as the flood lasts.

I believe that danger of deaths from the flood waters themselves is passing, but the water is leaving behind an equally dangerous condition.

Many homes are filled with explosive gas, leaking from broken mains. One unguarded match might cause a serious conflagration.

I have heard no reports of attempted looting of deserted homes or stores.

CASH APPEAL FOR FLOOD SUFFERERS MEETS RESPONSE

Special Proclamation
Cites Urgent Need
Of Sufferers

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Cash began accumulating at Red Cross center tonight in response to President Roosevelt's appeal for $2,000,000 for flood sufferers.

The president made the appeal today in a special proclamation which stressed that snow, sleet and freezing weather were adding to the misery of victims.

Mr. Roosevelt placed the number already driven from their homes in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys at 270,000 men, women and children.

Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman of the Red Cross, increased this estimate to 288,000 a short time later, and the president said it was likely to go on climbing until the flood crest is past.

"The victims of this grave disaster are dependent upon the American Red Cross for food, shelter, fuel, medical care, and warm clothing," said the president's proclamation. x x x

"In order that the Red Cross may meet these immediate emergency needs and continue to care for the unfortunate until the waters have receded and they can be returned to their homes, it is imperative that a minimum relief fund of $2,000,000 be raised as speedily as possible."

Chief among the federal agencies battling the flood was the works progress administration, with 18,000 men already diverted from other jobs to the emergency task.

Harry L. Hopkins, the works progress administrator, sent telegrams to nine state WPA administrators this afternoon, authorizing them to employ such additional workers as they deem necessary "to combat flood and relieve its consequences."

Hopkins' telegrams went to the administrators of Arkansas, Illinois, Kentucky, Missouri, Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Tennessee and Indiana.

There is only one way to prevent looting during flooding. That is to shoot to kill. It is a sure cure. Flood supplies are becoming short, and should the one highway still open into Portsmouth be closed our situation could become acute. I understood a relief train is enroute with food and medical supplies.

The skill of the rescue parties—they are made up of city policemen and firemen, patrolmen, national guards, and volunteers—is amazing. Portsmouth residents forced from their homes have been crowded into the school buildings and hospitals on the hill top.

It looks like every family has brought along at least one dog. At the Lincoln school there are 350 refugees and 150 dogs.

LOWDEN AGREES WITH ROOSEVELT ECONOMY PLANS

Believes Scheme Of Reorganization Is Efficient

Former Illinois Governor
Gives Press Interview

Oregon, Ill., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Frank Orren Lowden opined today reorganization of the government as outlined by President Roosevelt's committee would result in increased efficiency and economy.

The elder statesman of the Republican party also envisioned the proposed revamping of federal administrative machinery as an opportunity for the chief executive to "discharge more efficiently the duties which are laid upon him by the constitution."

The former governor of Illinois—contemplating the observance of the 75th anniversary of his birth next Tuesday—expounded his views in an interview with the Associated Press.

He spoke as a recognized authority. Twenty years ago, when he took up his gubernatorial tasks, he encountered a situation similar to that in Washington today. More than 125 scattered agencies, boards and commissions were in operation. He perceived confusion, competition and needless expenses among them.

So Gov. Lowden abolished them and created nine new departments to take over their functions. He instituted budgetary innovations. Other states emulated Illinois' example.

He added: "While it is impossible to estimate the savings, the reorganization as outlined will avoid much duplication and confusion, both of which are existing in increased efficiency."

"The report has been criticized because it did not recommend the abolition of some of the present agencies. That, it seems to me, is beyond the scope of the study which the committee was asked to make."

But he professed to see a "vastly better chance" to eliminate useless agencies if they are placed in one of the 12 departments than if they are left to operate independently.

The weight of the passing years seemed to rest lightly on the broad shoulders of Illinois' wartime governor as he prepared to leave his 4,500-acre Siniissippi farm for a winter vacation at Chandler, Ariz.

Alf M. Landon—Republican presidential candidate who halted his campaign last September to visit this country seat on the banks of Rock river—plans to greet Lowden next Tuesday when his train passes through Kansas en route through the south-west.

Lowden declared that General Motors "is reaping the benefit of its own duplicitous and anti-union labor policy which was conceived in the hearts of the men who sit in Wall Street—the men who connived to drive the president out of the White House."

"We know that every worker wants to get back to work," Martin continued, "but we are not willing to have peace at any price—not at Wall Street's terms—and we know that the workers feel that way about it."

Reiterating his charge that evacuation of the striker-held plants in Flint was deferred last Sunday because of "strikes and strikes and strikes," he said: "If Mr. Sloan and his associates wish to settle this matter as he says, let them meet with us now, without further delay or equivocation. Let them come without the shadow of a doubt."

Along the strike front of half a hundred closed General Motors plants, striking members of the United Automobile Workers of America, A.C.I.O. affiliate, and idle non-union employees of the corporation watchfully awaited future moves in the dispute.

Russian Plotters Enter Guilty Plea In Trotsky Scheme

Seventeen Bolsheviks Face
Certain Death in Moscow

Moscow, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Allegations of intrigue to spread disease germs in war to overthrow Soviet Russia and divide riches of the nation between Japan and Germany were unfolded today at the trial of 17 once-powerful Bolsheviks who pleaded guilty.

Almost eagerly, the 17 went to trial in the elaborate ballroom where nobles of the Tsar fete their ladies in a bygone day. They entered confessions of complete guilt—bringing their face to face with the penalty of death.

Chief of the group was bewhiskered, suddenly aged Karl Radek, long considered an authoritative spokesman for the government through his writings in the newspaper Izvestia.

Amazing was the story of a vast conspiracy asserted by the prosecution to have been directed by the exiled revolutionary leader, Leon Trotsky.

Boring from within, the indictment said, the 17 sought to spread malcontent among followers of the Soviet Union and to foster the return of capitalism.

The price for assistance, the government charged, was surrender of the Ukraine valley to Germany and the Soviet maritime and Amur provinces to Japan.

Scores of persons were killed, the much damage caused by sabotage directed by the defendants—the wrecking of trains and mines, explosions in a chemical plant.

In event of war by Germany and Japan to assist in the overthrow of the Communist government, the indictment alleged the 17 plotted to spread germs through Russia.

MUSSOLINI GOERING
Rome, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini and General Hermann Wilhelm Goering, air minister, wound up conferences today with a reported discussion of plans to guarantee the territorial integrity of Belgium.

After a ten-day series of conversations, Goering left Rome tonight carrying with him Il Duce's views on pressing European questions.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Governor Homer, in a statement released here today directing the attention of Illinois citizens of the observance of Christian Endeavor week from January 31 to February 7, expressed the hope that Christian Endeavor week x x x will contribute materially to the accomplishments of the purposes of the society.

CHURCHMAN ENDEAVOR
The detectives, assigned to her because of their experience in guarding high personages and their knowledge of the ways of cranks, told her that only by keeping out of Britain can she have absolute security.

There is no possibility of a popular demonstration against her—the British are too phlegmatic for that and want only to forget the affair which resulted in the abdication of Edward VIII, the detectives said. They were thinking, they said, only of cranks.

General Motors Will Reopen Some Plants; Perkins Asks Parley

Detroit, Jan. 23.—(AP)—General Motors Corporation announced plans tonight for partial reopening Tuesday of some of its plants closed by strikes which have thrown 125,000 of the corporation's wage-earners out of work.

The plans involve a "couple of days work a week" for 95,000 idle employees in factories closed by the paralyzing effects of strikes in other corporation units. The partial resumption, it was estimated, would provide a payroll increase of approximately $344,000 daily.

Secretary Perkins indicated at Washington there may be renewal of federal labor department efforts to bring corporation officials and John L. Lewis, chairman of the committee for industrial organization, together across a conference table. Such efforts failed at the capital this week, but the secretary said today there "again are favorable signs" pointing toward an agreement to negotiate.

Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, asserted in Toledo, Ohio, that a real change in the policies of General Motors will bring peace, either temporary or permanent.

He was replying to a statement issued yesterday by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors, avowing that the company's desire to return its automotive employees to work, and its willingness to open negotiations with the U.S.A. as soon as strikers occupied plants at Flint are evacuated.

"Mr. Sloan complains about the illegal occupation of the plants by sit-down strikers," Martin said. "I would like to remind Mr. Sloan that 49 years ago it was illegal to call a strike; it was illegal to walk in a picket line, and in my opinion Mr. Sloan would make it illegal today if he could do so."

Martin declared that General Motors "is reaping the benefit of its own duplicitous and anti-union labor policy which was conceived in the hearts of the men who sit in Wall Street—the men who connived to drive the president out of the White House."

"We know that every worker wants to get back to work," Martin continued, "but we are not willing to have peace at any price—not at Wall Street's terms—and we know that the workers feel that way about it."

Along the strike front of half a hundred closed General Motors plants, striking members of the United Automobile Workers of America, A.C.I.O. affiliate, and idle non-union employees of the corporation watchfully awaited future moves in the dispute.

Final decision to end the crisis, it appeared to informed observers, rested with the emperor who was said to be depending upon the representations of veteran statesmen and close advisors to the throne.

The emperor tonight dispatched an imperial messenger to Prince Saionji, former premier and president of the powerful Constitutional party, at his mountain villa at Okitsu. Saionji is the last of Japan's "elder statesmen."

Leaders of the Seiyukai, minority party, hailed the turn of events in statements rejoicing that the army's attempt to secure dissolution of the diet had been blocked successfully and declaring the cabinet's resignation proved constitutional government still prevailed in Japan.

Killing Freeze to Hit Fruit Orchards

Los Angeles, Jan. 23.—(AP)—With their rich crops already perhaps half lost, southern California fruit growers defended their orchards tonight against another killing freeze in the offing.

Damage already suffered in the worst weather since 1913 may run to $60,000,000 counting fruit and tree damage and costs of orchard heating.

The forecast for tonight in the citrus belt was for temperatures about the same as last night and early today, down to 21 degrees in some places.

Today's temperatures, however, averaged about five degrees higher than yesterday's minimum cold.

Last year's crops brought $112,000,000. The industry is valued at half a million dollars. Industry leaders, however, expect increased prices to offset much of the loss.

Flood Youngs, government frost forecaster at Pomona, said temperatures would drop earlier tonight and advised growers to start firing heaters at 10 p.m.

WARN MRS. SIMPSON TO STAY OUT OF ENGLAND

Cannes, France, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson has been advised by the Scotland Yard detectives who guarded her during her first weeks at Cannes not to return to England.

The detectives, assigned to her because of their experience in guarding high personages and their knowledge of the ways of cranks, told her that only by keeping out of Britain can she have absolute security.

There is no possibility of a popular demonstration against her—the British are too phlegmatic for that and want only to forget the affair which resulted in the abdication of Edward VIII, the detectives said. They were thinking, they said, only of cranks.

"Over The Top"

Jacksonville Legionnaires, in fact all ex-service men residing in the Twentieth Congressional district, have reason to be proud of this district's showing in the 1937 membership campaign. The Twentieth district was the first in Illinois to sign up its quota of Legion members.

With the same patriotic fervor that they shouted "let's go," when there was a dangerous task to be done at the front, these former service men wasted no time when the membership drive opened. They proved again that they are good soldiers, alert to duty, loyal to their organization.

Considering that there are 25 districts in the state, and that this is the second consecutive year that the Twentieth district has come through with its quota of paid up memberships in advance of any other district, veterans of this section have every reason to view the accomplishment with pride.

Credit for this showing goes, naturally, to the several hundred Legionnaires who got busy at the outset of the campaign and paid their yearly dues. But credit also is due the officials of the district, who supervised the membership campaign. Commander William F. Hanley of Jerseyville and James L. Pope of Glasgow, membership chairman of the district, deserve commendation for the dispatch with which the veterans set a record for other districts of Illinois to follow.

No single post in the district was responsible for the marked success of the campaign. All of them contributed to its brilliant conclusion. The veterans followed orders and worked together in time of war. The results of the campaign indicate that they still know how to take commands and carry them out in time of peace.

As we have stated before in these columns, we do not see how an ex-service man can remain outside of the ranks of the Legion. It should be the duty of every former service man to affiliate with the organization which connects him directly with those stirring times of his youth, that great adventure of service and sacrifice from which he was fortunate to return.

The membership of the American Legion in Illinois is now 50,000. It should show gains within the next few years, instead of a decrease.

Emptying the Poor Houses

The "poor house" has always been an object of despair to self-respecting people. Not that the charitable house is different from any other public institution, but thought of it conveys visions of helplessness, hopelessness and misery. No one who has made his own way in the world wants to go to the "poor house." So these institutions caring for paupers in every county of the state have been a synonym for discouragement.

It is cheering to many persons to read that since the old age pension system became effective in Illinois, "poor houses" or county homes, are losing many inmates.

Men and women 65 years old or more are taking their pension checks and putting them to good use. They are leaving the county homes, to again take their places among other citizens.

They are accepting charity—yes. But with the pension check does not come the stigma of "going to the poor farm."

These older men and women who are freed from institutional existence by creation of the pension system are fortunate. Many of them consider the pension check a God-send.

County homes in this state are for the most part clean, well-regulated institutions. The inmates are properly clothed and fed; their lives are made as cheerful as possible under the circumstances. But after all, they are in the "home." When a chance comes, they return to their former mode of living.

Old age pensions probably will not solve the problems of all persons who are now in charitable institutions. But it is helping.

Fifteen residents of the Greene county home near Carrollton have left to take up residence elsewhere. The monthly pension checks were responsible for their departure.

If this evacuation of county homes continues, it is possible that the "poor house" will pass out of existence in a number of smaller counties. Charity is charity in any form, but the passing of the poor house would be mourned by none.

An Aerial Post Mortem

During the last several months there has been an appalling number of serious air crashes in which a large number of passengers have lost their lives. The majority of these tragedies have occurred in the western states.

Various causes have been given, including inexperienced pilots, fogs, mountain peaks and even the presence of radium ore in mountain passes that might affect compasses.

The most disturbing of the reasons heard is the persistent charge that the U. S. Bureau of Air Commerce which is responsible for safety in aviation, has been failing to do its job properly.

This bureau is a part of the Department of Commerce. When the senate commerce committee investigated the crash in 1933 that killed Senator Bronson Cutting, it was charged that politics in the Department was preventing the bureau from functioning properly.

It is now reported that the senate will order another investigation, and it is to be hoped that the report of the decision is correct.

This bureau, of all bureaus, needs to be efficient and proof against political influence, dealing as it does with the safety of human lives in the air.

The senate would be well advised to get at the bottom of this matter quickly so that a drastic overhauling can be made immediately if necessary. If the charges are untrue the department should be publicly cleared and every additional aid given it to help stop the recurring disasters that have so suddenly beset commercial aviation.

The People Would Defeat It

At a meeting of the St. Louis Bar association this week, Attorney William F. Fahey, a Democratic member of the board of election commissioners from 1924 to 1928, offered a resolution outlining proposals which sponsored legislation for sweeping reforms in legal and election methods.

The proposed legislation would effect revisions in Missouri's laws on elections, the judiciary, the distribution of political jobs and criminal justice.

Among reforms suggested by Attorney Fahey are, that in primary elections, all party tickets be placed on one ballot, making it unnecessary for a voter to announce his party preference at the polls; that qualifications of ward and precinct committeemen and committeewomen be fixed with a bipartisan board appointed by judges passing on their qualifications; that all non-elective officers and positions be under civil service; that taxes be spent only for the purposes for which they are levied; that three-fourths of the members of a jury may render a verdict in all cases, both civil and criminal.

The lawyer said that if the St. Louis bar refuses to support the program outlined, he will direct his efforts toward submission of the proposals to the people.

We greatly doubt if the St. Louis bar will throw its strength to a sweeping proposition of this nature. And, moreover, we predict that if such changes are submitted to a popular vote, they will be overwhelmingly defeated.

While there is merit to a number of the reforms advocated by the attorney, they are too radical and sweeping to be approved all in one lot. Certain things suggested by Mr. Fahey may be incorporated in laws in the future, but by gradual action, rather than at one stroke.

We can picture the future that such a proposal would create in political ranks of this state, and Missouri politicians are no different than those of Illinois. Parties would practically lose their identity at the primary, which would not be to the liking of either faction.

Reforms suggested by a man of Mr. Fahey's experience are worth considering—but his recent proposals, on the surface, appear hopeless.

The Lincoln Pilgrimage

Legionnaires of Central Illinois are preparing to observe the annual National Lincoln Day Pilgrimage to be held on February 12, the anniversary of the birth of the Great Emancipator.

The pilgrimage to Lincoln's tomb in Springfield was inaugurated in 1934. Interest in the observance has become national in scope, and will be greatly increased this year, due to the fact that this is the centennial of Lincoln's removal to Springfield from New Salem.

Beginning with the pilgrimage proper at noon, the procession will move to the burial place of the martyred president, where impressive services will be held. Brief talks will be given at the tomb by Henry Colmery, national commander of the American Legion; Mrs. Oscar Hahn, national president of the Legion Auxiliary; Governor Henry Horner, and other Legion and public officials.

Highlights of the ceremonies at the tomb will be interviews with Jacob Yocum of Williamsville, a veteran of the civil war, who knew Lincoln, voted for him and fought under him, and "Daddy" Schick of Springfield, who also knew Lincoln. These interviews will be broadcast over a nationwide radio hookup.

The importance and national scope of the event have become so great that it is anticipated the attendance this year will surpass that of any previous year. The pilgrimage affords an excellent opportunity for all ex-service men of this section of the state to join in doing honor to the memory of one of America's outstanding figures.

A Typical Achievement

The Spokesman-Review, a daily newspaper, published at Spokane, Wash., on January 17 offered its second annual Progress Edition of five tabloid sections of 85 pages, pictorially presenting Spokane and the Inland Empire of the Pacific northwest.

The 1937 edition was brought out primarily to aid a campaign to secure needed funds to complete the Grand Coulee dam when a new Congress is swinging into action and President Roosevelt is entering upon his second term. But with its most ambitious press work, it tells an inspiring story of progress in the city of Spokane and the Inland Empire during 1936. It gives the amazing annual production of field and garden crops and also the vast orchards in that region.

The most startling and interesting feature of this edition is the story told in pictures and articles of the construction work to date on the Grand Coulee dam which is to pump water to irrigate 1,200,000 acres in the Columbia river basin of Central Washington.

Approximately $40,000,000 of the $55,000,000 so far authorized for the construction of this stupendous program has been expended to date. Additional funds, after the money allocated is exhausted, must come through action by Congress. Because there is opposition to further appropriations in some sections of the country, The Spokesman-Review calls upon the Inland Empire and the Pacific Northwest to put up a united front and make a sustained fight to secure the needed funds.

Talk about the frankness of defeated candidates, L. L. Titus of Moberly, Mo., is the most outspoken gentleman we have ever heard or read about. After a recent election in his home city, the following notice appeared in the Moberly Monitor-Inquirer:

"I want to thank the few friends who voted for me. I was certainly surprised that I had so few friends in Moberly. L. L. Titus."

"When I grow up," soliloquized the little girl, "I must have a husband like mother has or be an old maid like Aunt Susan. I certainly am in a bad fix."

The Family Doctor

In Hemophilia, Bane of Royalty, Slight Scratch May Cause Death

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBURN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygieia, the Health Magazine

One of the most "romantic" of all the diseases that affect mankind is that called hemophilia. This is the disease that affects the former royal families of Spain and Russia—a condition of a peculiar hereditary character, limited to males of the family, but transmitted by females.

In hemophilia, the clotting time of the blood is very much prolonged, so that a person with this ailment may bleed to death without any one being able to cause the blood to clot successfully. In these cases, the number of red blood cells and white blood cells usually is normal when bleeding begins.

Moreover, the condition is distinguished from purpura, described in the previous article, by the fact that the blood platelets also are not diminished. In fact, they are sometimes increased over the normal in response to the bleeding that occurs. Hence, in hemophilia it is not platelets, but some other element necessary for the clotting process that is missing.

Many investigations have been made all over the world in an attempt to find out just what happens in the blood of a person who is hemophilic.

It seems likely that the defective coagulation in some cases may be due to difficulty in the formation of the blood-clotting element called thrombin, but the cause for the deficiency in this element has not yet been determined.

There happens to be still another element in the blood called anti-thrombin, which interferes with clotting, and it has been said that an excessive amount of this substance is

THE WORLD IN A WEEK

A REVIEW

DISASTER GRIPPED a large portion of the United States this week as Franklin Delano Roosevelt took oath of office from Justice Hughes in a cold, Washington rain that seemed a portent of problems ahead in his second administration.

His dramatic utterance, "I see one-third of a nation ill-housed, ill-clad, ill-nourished," as applying to those millions still under the pall of depression, might well have been a description of hundreds of thousands shivering, homeless, suffering and hungry victims of the worst flood in the history of the midwest.

The implication of privation and want to the general situation he had in mind also may be a forecast of developments in the strike-bound auto sections in Michigan, locked helplessly in the rival and unyielding hands of John L. Lewis and General Motors. Those hands literally hold the key to production and the opportunity to produce. They are opposing each other this week in a stalemate of bitter press statements and unyielding assertions as to "positions."

TURNING FOR A MOMENT to the inaugural, a safe speculation is that future "oath-takings" will be held indoors. The new date will inevitably be accompanied by cold, miserable weather conditions as it was this year.

History reveals that Munroe was the first president to hold the ceremony in the open. The first administration of Andrew Jackson marked the beginning of the practice as official. Munroe's was an accident caused by remodeling inconvenience following the Washington fire.

Texas Jack Garner was openly rebellious at standing out in the driving rain, although "taking it" with a show of humor. The president appeared to enjoy it, riding in an open car down Pennsylvania avenue and standing for an hour and a half reviewing the military parade after lunch.

As for his message—as Senator Vandenberg put it, it was a mass of "unassailable ideals," and delivered in his acknowledged inimitable style. The speech might be termed a New Deal Manifesto—with no specific suggestions as to how it might be carried out to a successful end.

Orators the world over, from Demosthenes to Edward Everett and including Gladstone, Patrick Henry and Daniel Webster, have given silver-tongued sentences to the world. Many of them have been forgotten. Mr. Roosevelt's twenty minute declaration is perhaps no greater or no worse than the best of these.

As a speech, then, it may be pushed into the detailed background of American history—but one sentence, one thought, will be recalled as the center of gravity upon which the New Deal has teeter-tottered back and forth between brilliancy and fumbles for the past four years.

It was: "We have always known that heedless self-interest was bad morals; we know now that it is bad economics."

Like the tiny sentence that preceded and followed Aesop's fables, little stories illustrating this utterance can be found throughout the breadth of the country in bank failures, poverty, moral degradation and business collapse during the black years following 1927. The startling realization for the mass of the people that there was such a thing as heedless self-interest, left them groping for something different, a "New Deal," a shot in the dark, a gambler's chance to get going on a different road.

And thus a new political philosophy was born and a president elected. And on precisely that same determination Franklin Roosevelt is clinging to his first purposes. The result will probably write failure or some sort of "victory" for this era of political history.

JOHN L. LEWIS grew bolder this week. He made statements on Thursday that caused Alfred P. Sloan, General Motors head, to leave Washington, saying that negotiations were impossible. The C. I. O. founder admitted, among other things, that Ford and Chrysler were "next."

Meanwhile General Motors is losing a million dollars a day, which translates into the disagreeable realization that thousands of workers, salesmen and business men are losing—with peace far in the "distance."

FLOOD WATERS of the Ohio, Illinois, Mississippi and other smaller streams rolled up to the doorsteps of thousands of homes in affected areas this week. Business districts were abandoned. Cincinnati counted damage of at least $5,000,000. Some smaller communities were swept away. There were numerous fatalities.

Eight states were affected including Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky and Missouri. A congressman called immediately for a two million dollar relief fund, and Red Cross agencies swung into frantic activity.

Half of Shawneetown, Ill., took up residence in tents as the mercury hit 10 and 15 degrees above zero. The total damage will remain uncounted for many days.

P. G. Stein Named as Head of County Old Age Assistance Board

914 Persons to Receive Old Age Aid in County This Month

P. G. Stein has been named chairman of the Morgan county board of advisors in charge of checking applications submitted by the Old Age Assistance workers, at a recent meeting during which the board reorganized for the year. Mr. Stein succeeds C. A. Boruff, who served the first year and who has been appointed for another three year term. B. C. Lair is vice-chairman of the board.

During Mr. Boruff's administration, the board investigated a total of 1,300 applications for relief. At present there are 914 cases on the regular assistance roll, and 43 persons have been granted aid this month by the state board, after their applications had been passed by the local organization.

A total of $12,581 will be paid to the 914 persons actually receiving aid regularly. The checks to these 914 persons were mailed out Saturday and average $13.76 per check. The 43 additional applicants who will receive aid this month for the first time will receive $671, an average of $15.16 a check. The checks for this group will be mailed out Jan. 27.

The county old age assistance department, of which Fred E. Deatherage is supervisor, is conducting a survey of the persons now receiving aid in cooperation with the Illinois Emergency Relief to eliminate duplications.

Members of the county commission are appointed by County Judge William E. Thomson.

Franklin Class in First Aid Program

Members Close Work with Practical Showing of Lessons Learned

The Red Cross first aid class at Franklin closed its work recently with a practical demonstration of the lessons learned in the course. The class was taught by Dr. M. D. Henderson. Twelve persons, most of them teachers in the Franklin public schools, received certificates for completion of the course, and are qualified to teach first aid course to children of the intermediate and advanced grades.

The demonstration was carried out with materials the class members made themselves, including bandages and splints. During the demonstration, treatment of fractures was shown, also the best methods to control and stop bleeding, and how an accident victim should be handled. A stretcher was improvised from a gate, and used to move the victim.

In view of the increasing number of traffic accidents, information contained in the Red Cross first aid course is becoming more and more necessary to the general public. During the past weeks scores of persons in this county have taken the course and equipped themselves to give first aid in case of emergency.

Wearable, Washable Garments on Market

Makers Meeting Demands of Homemakers, Mrs. Doherty
Finds at Meeting

The truth will "out" about garments somehow, and homemakers who are "label-wise" will not have to wait for the findings to be revealed in the wash.

Such is the conclusion which Morgan county homemakers have reached after viewing the labels sections of the home economics exhibits during their visit to Farm and Home Week at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois last week.

The fact that manufacturers recognize that homemakers are demanding proof as to the wearability and washability of garments is bringing a record quantity of labeled garments on to the market, the exhibit revealed. However, homemakers who are trying to avoid buying clothes "sight unseen," should not put too much credit in any label, homemakers found out.

Not to be taken at their word were such labels as "pre-shrunk" for it did not say the garment would not shrink more when washed. "Color-guaranteed" did not indicate whether the garment was fast to sun, water, perspiration or all three.

Giving part of the truth, but not the whole truth were such labels as "seams double-stitched, pull-proof, garment will not shrink," since they did not report on the annoying yarn-slippage of the garment. One towel company labeled its product "guaranteed fast color," but forgot to report whether the color was fast to sun or tub.

Still another label said, "washable, will not wrinkle, will not shrink, will not stretch, will not sag." Further explanation would have informed the homemaker that the garments was treated in a process to make it wrinkle resistant, but that the treatment might come out in the wash unless the garments were carefully handled.

Homemakers may place more confidence in labels such as those giving entire directions for washing wool blankets, according to the exhibit. Thus the housewife could blame only herself if something went wrong in the wash. Another label warned "dry clean, do not wash."

One brand of towels was guaranteed for four years by the manufacturer, since he had run 104 complete laundry tests, subjecting the material to the same rigorous tubbing any homemaker would give it on a Monday. "Fully shrunk" said another labeled garment, and a third informed the homemaker that the collar was stiffened to stay therefore it would not need added starching.

How far such statements may be trusted lies in the reliability of the manufacturing firm, according to Mrs. Pauline Berry Mack, of Pennsylvania State College, Pennsylvania, who spoke to the women during the week.

Women Voters Plan Drive for 4 Points At 75th Congress

Will Work to Make Postal Service "Career Job";
Ask Merit System

The National League of Women Voters has selected a "Big Four" legislative program as its major interest in the 75th Congress.

As announced yesterday by Mrs. Harris T. Baldwin, first vice president and legislative chairman, the "Big Four" pertains to needed improvements in the merit system for public appointments, a strengthened food-drug-cosmetic regulatory measure, a continuation of the reciprocal trade agreements program, and neutrality legislation.

In continuance of its drive against the patronage system, Mrs. Baldwin declared the League will support several specific methods of improving the federal civil service.

"Principally, the League will work to make the postal service a 'career service' by placing all postmasters in the competitive classified service," Mrs. Baldwin pointed out. "Such legislation will make permanent and extend the gains made last summer by a presidential executive order affecting postmasters."

"The League also will urge congressional action for presidential authorization to extend the application of the merit system to the many emergency agencies which were exempted from the merit system in the laws creating them. As they become permanent, the employees in these agencies should be under civil service."

"The League will support neutrality legislation which will not obstruct the efforts of other countries to maintain peace. The provisions of such legislation must be sufficiently flexible to allow the president to apply them to the best interests of this country."

The League's support of a new food, drug and cosmetic bill is based on its belief that the consumer deserves greater protection. Mrs. Baldwin declared. Many features of the 1906 Act do not protect the buying public, she said.

The League is in favor of "downward revision of tariffs by reciprocal trade agreements" as "a step toward removing economic friction between nations" and "as a direct aid to consumers."

Unit 279, realizing that so many people do not know just what the American Legion School Awards stand for, or just what a great honor it is for the student winning these awards, wish to quote the words of the Community Service Chairman, Mrs. C. C. Gustine, in presenting the medal to Miss Betty Barnes of the Junior High school during the promotional exercises Friday.

Mrs. Gustine spoke as follows: "Members of the Faculty, Members of the Class and Friends: As a representative of the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 279, of Jacksonville and the Department of Illinois, it is my extreme pleasure to be here today to present the scholarship award given by our local Post to a worthy member of your graduating class, Miss Betty Barnes. with which I am about to present you is significantly engraved on both sides.

"On the one side you will notice it has the inscription 'For God and Country,' and the wording 'Sempere Fidelis,' which means faithful always. On the other side, it carries the name of the body interested in child welfare, the wording 'American Legion School Award.' Under this inscription are the words 'Courage, Companionship, Character, Service and Scholarship.' You are doubtless aware that you have qualified in all five of these classes in order to have won this award. This was not based upon any one singly, but collectively. You have exemplified every phase of these requirements.

"In life Courage is one of the first requisites that one must have in order to accomplish anything. Through courage you have added strength to carry on. The second, Companionship, which marks one in life in such a way that they may be either loved or hated. What your companions think of you brings happiness and contentment.

"The third is Character—that which all of us should ever strive to attain and preserve, for regardless of what other losses you may have in life there is none so great as the loss of a good character. The fourth is Service—and in serving others you automatically serve yourself best, for service unto others will always bring happiness to the one who serves.

"Last, but not least, is Scholarship. Scholarship covers many phases and is ordinarily thought of in terms of the studies that take you in your school, but in reality scholarship means that you have acquired the knowledge to know how to perform the duties of all of the things that makes up this wonderful school award.

"I wish to extend the congratulations of the American Legion Auxiliary of our own local Post, as well as the congratulations of the Department of Illinois, and my own personal congratulations."

Cathedral Dumps Rockets By 15-10 Score; Indians Beat Crimsons

Cyclones Take Own Sweet Time About Trying For Buckets As Routt Sets Up Stiff Defense

Cathedral high's Cyclones took their own sweet time about trying for buckets Saturday night on the Liberty hall court, working easily after getting a four point lead to get some revenge from Routt high for an overtime defeat the Rockets hung on the Springfield team earlier in the season. The visitors led all through the contest, winning by a 15-10 score when Routt failed to get the ball through Cathedral's own defense for close shots.

The game was almost weird, Routt setting up a tight zone defense to stop Cathedral from getting many close shots, and Cathedral using a man-to-man defense to keep Routt out in the middle of the court. Cathedral fired by far the greatest number of shots at the basket, but most of their shots came from out in the court and were ineffective.

Cathedral hit six times from the field and Routt connected only three times. Three of Cathedral's goals came from under the cage, and none of the other three were very long shots. Harmon accounted for Routt's only field goal in the first half, a long shot from near the middle of the court. Hanley made the other two, both of them in the last quarter from near the basket.

Both teams tired. Both teams appeared to be tired, and neither team was moving the ball very rapidly. The Cyclones moved it rapidly enough to get two buckets, both by Kalszewski, in the first quarter, one of them a rebound from a short shot and the other the result of a fast play that clicked. Routt failed to score during the opening quarter, but Hanley rung up his third free shot for a point, and Harmon drilled the net from deep in the court to give the Rockets three points, while Grady's free toss and McGrath's bucket gave Cathedral seven points when the rest period arrived.

Shanahan and Perry made free tosses for Routt, and Walsh got a gift shot and Huenecker a field goal for Cathedral during the third period.

Routt made an effort to come back in the last five minutes of the game after Cathedral had obtained a 13-8 lead, and Hanley gave the Rockets the most encouragement of the evening when he dropped in a bucket with three minutes to play and was fouled while shooting. Hanley missed the free toss, however, and with a minute and a half to go McGrath sank a tieider to clinch the issue.

Morgan Team Rates as Favorite At Ashland Tourney This Week

Ashland—Murrayville, leader in the Morgan county Little Six conference race, has been ranked as the team to beat in the annual Ashland Invitational tournament, the 15th of its kind, which will get underway here Tuesday night with three games. Games will be played on each of the following nights, through Saturday, bringing together 14 teams into action.

Illinois School for the Deaf, placed under a quarantine the first of the year, may be unable to appear against Lanphier of Springfield, rated as second choice to win the tournament championship by the coaches and principals of the competing schools. A decision on whether I. S. D. will be permitted to take part in the tournament is expected Monday.

If the Tigers are unable to play, Lanphier will be awarded a forfeit victory and will march into the second round where Franklin, another strong Morgan county entry, and New Berlin already have been placed as the result of drawing byes.

The Tigers are scheduled to play Lanphier in the first game of the tournament. Ashland and Scottville, two teams which battled it out early in the season on even terms, will meet in the second game, and Murrayville and Winchester, arch basketball rivals, will meet in the night cap.

Difficulties appear to face the tournament from the start. Chandler of Scottville was forced to postpone its week-end basketball schedule because two cases of small-pox were discovered in the school, and several of the Comets were vaccinated. Virginia likewise is just recovering from small-pox vaccinations.

Upsets are expected in several games. Murrayville's Shadows will have plenty of trouble getting past the Winchester Wildcats who struck their stride in their own tournament and went to a fourth place after appearing to have little to write home about. The Shadows turned in a victory over Bluffs, 19-18, in the Winchester tournament after the Bluffs team had walloped Winchester 22-9 about a week before, but the Wildcats changed almost overnight from a listless team to one which has a lot of scrap and tenacity.

Tallula, one of the lower rated teams, defeated Routt high recently. Plains turn on the best it has. The victory over Routt inspired the Tallula cagers to better efforts. Tallula has one of its best teams this year. Although there is some doubt about the first game of the opening card becoming a reality, the other two games on Tuesday night offer enough to fill the gymnasium. Scottville beat Ashland by one point last November, and the Panthers want revenge and a chance to win their sixth tournament championship.

Murrayville and Winchester battles have been the highlights of the schedule at both places, and their meeting on a neutral court is expected to provide plenty of fireworks. The complete schedule is as follows:

Tuesday.
7 p. m.—I. S. D. vs. Lanphier.
8 p. m.—Ashland vs. Scottville.
9 p. m.—Murrayville vs. Winchester.
Wednesday.
7 p. m.—Pleasant Plains vs. Tallula.
8 p. m.—Chandlerville vs. Mt. Sterling.
9 p. m.—Bath vs. Virginia.
Thursday.

8:30—Winners Pleasant Plains-Tallula vs. winner Chandlerville-Mt. Sterling.
8:30 p. m.—Franklin vs. winner Converse-I. S. D.
Saturday.

8 p. m.—Consolation game.
9 p. m.—Championship game.

Basketball, Volley Ball to Furnish Recreation for Dozens of Lineups

Basketball and volleyball games scheduled for this week in the various leagues of the Y.M.C.A. will be enjoyed by hundreds of players and spectators. The games are free to the public—there is no admission charged. But children under high school age must not come unless accompanied by their parents.

In the games played last week in basketball Lukeman's Clothers, the Liberty Boys and Smith's Indians took games from the C.C.C. Boys, the Business College and Fox-Illinois respectively on Monday night. On Wednesday the Lynville Boys, H. S. Crimsons and Liberty Boys took games from Weyand Shoe Workers, Klump's Officers and the C.C.C.

Illini Win From Chicago U. 28-22

Take Undisputed Possession of First Place

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 23.—(P)—Illinois took undisputed possession of first place in the Big Ten basketball title scramble by defeating Chicago 28 to 22 tonight, but only after a hard battle from the low-standing Maroons.

The Illini missed numerous shots, and at halftime Chicago held a 12-11 margin. With nine minutes to play the Maroons led 18 to 15, but Tom Nisbet, sophomore Illini guard, then caged a field goal and free throw to knot the count and a second later dropped in two foul shots and another field goal to start his team toward victory.

Chicago failed to score a free throw point, missing on nine chances. But the Maroon defense was the best the Illini had run up against this season and only Nisbet's spurt gave his team its fifth win in five conference starts. It was Chicago's fifth straight loss.

Nowak's field goal under the net broke the deadlock and gave Notre Dame a 36 to 34 lead. He then added a foul to make it 37-34.

Barrett tossed in a long shot for Penn, his fourth of the night, to make it 37-36 with a minute to go. Moir and Sadowski broke loose in the remaining seconds of play to assure a Notre Dame victory, the ninth straight over a Penn team that has yet to defeat a Notre Dame five.

J.H.S. Tries To Stem Attack Of Saukees But Fails; Drop Fray Of Much Action 45-32

Pittsfield, Jan. 22.—On the war-path, Pittsfield High's Saukees Indians outtraced Jacksonville High's Crimsons 45 to 32 here tonight. The Saukees braves were hitting the target. They grabbed a lead in the first quarter and protected it with a volley of baskets in the following periods.

Jacksonville's squad attempted to stem the wild assault, making a valiant stand all along the line, but in the end submitted to the fierce pace set by the locals.

Two Pittsfield performers, J. Willard and G. Willard, contributed a sufficient number of points between them to turn back the boys from Morgan county.

Leeper and Henry were the chief scorers for Jacksonville, with Baptist and Abell furnishing their share of points. Ketter, one of Jacksonville's regulars, was out of the lineup with an injured ankle.

Pittsfield got away to an 11 to 7 lead, which they worked to 22 to 13 at the half. As the lineups went into the final round Pittsfield was ahead 33 to 27.

Colvin of Quincy was the official Jacksonville's second team defeat—Pittsfield 26 to 14 in the curtain-raiser.

Coal Thieves, Bogus Check Writer, Given Sentences to Farm

Dismiss Charge Against One Man in Coal Case in County Court

Lorenzo Pitts, colored and Leonard Angelo were sentenced to serve four months at the Vandalia State Farm and pay fines of $25 and costs, each, on charges of stealing coal, and J. L. Meyers, who was found guilty of issuing worthless checks, was sentenced to serve 100 days at the farm and pay costs of the case in county court Saturday morning by Judge William E. Thomson. One defendant in the coal stealing case, Jacob Parker, colored, was released when evidence showed that he was innocent of assisting the two men in removing the coal.

The three prisoners were remanded to the charge of Sheriff Kenneth Woods with instructions to take the men to the farm as soon as there is a vacancy there. Meyer will be granted the first opening in view of the fact that he was found guilty last month, and had not had a ruling on his plea for probation until yesterday. Pitts and Angelo were arrested on information furnished the state's attorney, Oscar C. Zachary, by employees of the Leonard & Six Coal Company, along with Parker. The three men told the state's attorney they were not guilty of the charge, but Saturday two of them changed their minds and Pitts and Angelo entered pleas of guilty.

In relating the story of the coal theft to Judge Thomson, Pitts told the court that Parker had nothing to do with taking the coal. Pitts said that he had Parker as the latter was driving by in an automobile, and asked Parker to pull the load. Parker told the court that he found that Pitts wanted to sell the coal, and that he agreed to buy it for a Mrs. Hills who lives on Hackett avenue.

Parker, who has served twenty-two years in the United States army, returning here recently has no previous police record. Both Pitts and Angelo have previous records. Sheriff Kenneth Woods, appointed as probation officer for Meyers, did not recommend that probation be granted. Judge Thomson sentenced the youth to serve 100 days and pay the costs of the case, and provided that any time Meyers serves in jail before being taken to the Vandalia state farm will be deducted from the time to be served at the farm.

FORFEIT RIGHTS
Chicago.—(AP)—Approximately 9,000 city employees suffered a setback in their fight to recover $16,779,000 in pay cuts when Superior Judge Joseph B. David ruled yesterday they had forfeited their rights by failing to assert them "when the situation arose."

Counsel for the city estimated pay reductions during the years 1932 to 1935 amounted to $30,000,000. Judge David urged the petitioners to appeal his decision to the Supreme Court.

Busher McCarthy Goes Top Cabin in Majors

Joe McCarthy never played a major league game, but managed the two wealthiest clubs in baseball. McCarthy is the only pilot who has won pennants in both big wheels—in 1929 with the Chicago Cubs of William Wrigley, with Marce Joe on the left, and in 1932 and 1936 with the New York Yankees of Colonel Jacob Ruppert, proudly posing with his field marshal following the world series last fall.

Carnegie Adopts New Coach Policy

Making Sweeping Changes in Athletic Administration

Pittsburgh.—(P)—Carnegie Tech invaded the campus of its neighbor, the University of Pittsburgh, for a new coaching staff today and set its course away from "big-time football."

Blond Bill Kern, first mate to Dr. Jock Sutherland at Pitt, took over the Tartan reins held for four years by Howard Harpster and brought along Eddie Baker, also a Panther assistant.

It marked a departure from a graduate coaching policy at Carnegie, and President Robert E. Doherty, in making the announcement outlined other and more sweeping changes in the institution's athletic administration.

He said "the mounting deficit" of the athletic association had brought a decision "that the president and trustees will take over complete control and set out for a new purpose."

This new purpose is "greater participation in all sports, more play for fun and recreation."

President Doherty said the athletic association would be superseded July 1 by a department of athletics within the regular school administration. Graduate Manager Clarence Overend will become the director of athletics. Doherty declared the school would encourage alumni units and friends to encourage students, regardless of whether they were athletes, but that no athletic or institutional funds would be used to support athletes.

Little Resigning His Chairmanship

Leaves Bit of Advice for Football Coaches

New York.—(P)—Lou Little is resigning the chairmanship of the American Football Coaches' rules committee with the advice to let the controversial pass interference rule alone for the time being.

Instead of a change in the currently most-disputed ruling on the books, Columbia's jovial coach suggests sharper interpretation by officials, "with fuller recognition of the rights of the defensive team to the ball, as well as protection for the offensive receiver."

ers."

"This is my personal viewpoint," he explained, "but I believe it represents generally what the coaches feel in seeking thorough but also fair and reasonable interpretation of the rules."

Little's announcement of his resignation as chairman of the committee, which he helped organize and has headed since its inception four years ago, came as a surprise. Harry Kipke, Michigan coach and president of the American Football Coaches Association, named Ray Morrison of Vanderbilt to preside at the meeting Feb. 6 at which coaches will review suggested changes in the gridiron law.

New in Balkline Billiards

A new style of balkline billiards will be introduced to America, Jan. 25-30, when Jake Schaefer, shown at practice on a table with the new markings, and Willie Hoppe meet in a match game of 28.2 in Chicago. The 28.2 game, or 71.2, as it is known in Europe, where it has been played for five years, is 30 per cent more difficult than 18.1. Each of the lines shown is 28 inches from the nearest edge of the table, and 7 by 7-inch anchors are at the edge ends of the lines. The center free space is eliminated, and a player must drive a ball across a line on his second shot.

NINE ARE HELD SUSPECTS IN YACHT MURDER MYSTERY

British Financier Vanishes at Sea After Boarding Rival's Ship

MURDER, stalking the cabins of a mystery yacht, bound for the Bahamas on a mystery cruise, presents Florida police with their strangest case.

Two hours after Bolitho Blane, British financier and world soap king, boarded the palatial yacht of his principal competitor, Carlton Rockavage, he vanished from his cabin. The window of his drawing room cabin was wide open and it appeared as if Blane had thrown himself overboard.

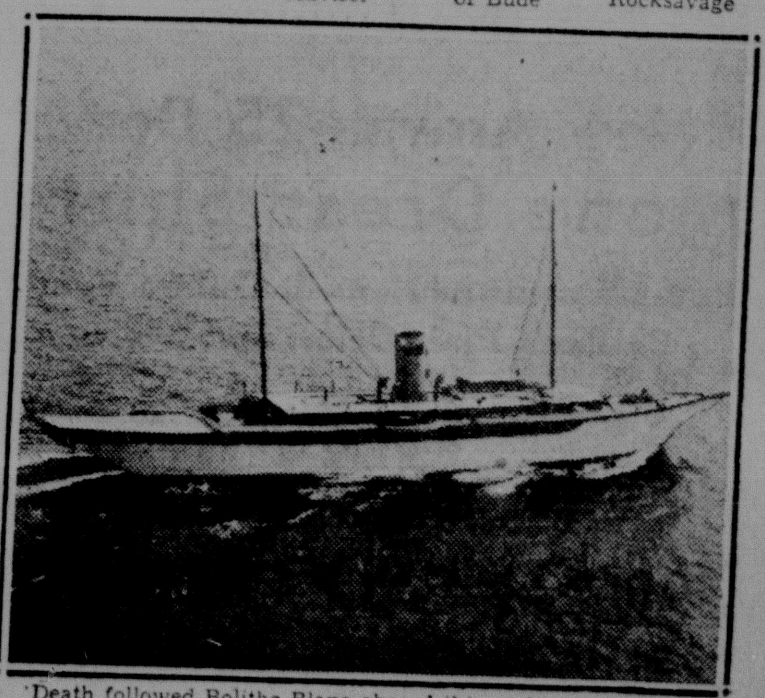

On Blane's table lay a note addressed to his secretary, Nicholas Stodart. It indicated suicide in face of approaching bankruptcy. A stock market memorandum detailing closing prices for that day showed Argus Suds, Blane's company stock, at new lows.

Aboard the yacht and detained by Miami police in addition to Rockavage, are his daughter, Ferri, socialite and press personality; Lady Welter, British publisher and youth reform leader; her socialite daughter and husband, Pamela and Reginald Jocelyn; Count Posodini; the Bishop of Bude and Inosuke Hayashi, Japanese agent.

Stodart, in an initial statement, indicated the case to be a clear suicide, pointing out that Blane faced a crash of his companies and eventual surrender to Rockavage of his mastery in the world soap trade.

Police were inclined to this theory until examination of Blane's suite showed two strange parallel marks across the carpet, running to the porthole. At the same time police found a discolored patch on the rug and a smear of blood on the curtain.

Death followed Bolitho Blane aboard this yacht off Miami.

Body of 7 Year Old Boy Found in Creek After 3 Day Search

Jimmy Williams Lost Life in Pike County While Walking Foot Log

Griggsville, Jan. 23.—One hundred and fifty men, chopping large sections of ice from Flint creek and dragging its swollen waters, this afternoon found the body of seven year old Jimmy Williams, who drowned Wednesday while enroute home from a country school.

The body of the little fellow, who toppled from a foot log he and two brothers were walking to get home, was located near the junction of the creek and the Illinois river.

Since Jimmy lost his life an intensive search had been made for his remains. All neighbors of the family who live about five miles southeast of here, turned out to assist with the search. The aid of all enrollees of the Pittsfield CCC camp was enlisted.

Groups of men patrolled the banks of the creek, carrying axes with which to chop ice, and hooks with which to grapple for the lifeless form. Leaders of the search said that tons of ice were removed from the creek at places where it was believed the body might lodge.

Jimmy, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams, fell from the log before the eyes of his terrified brothers, Bobby, eleven, and Billy, nine. Both boys plunged into the torrent in vain attempt to rescue their smaller brother and narrowly escaped with their own lives. They were rescued from a willow tree to which they clung.

The remains of the victim were removed to the Skinner Funeral Home in this city.

News Notes
The condition of Eugene Singbusch, 841 North Church street, who was injured in an accident when his car collided with a Wabash freight train here early Saturday morning, is not serious. Dr. Reginald Norris, attending physician reported last night. Singbusch is a patient at Our Saviour's hospital suffering with a cerebral concussion and sprained thumb which resulted when he drove his automobile into the side of a freight train at the North Church street crossing.

Singbusch was removed from his car by Police Captain Williams and Patrolman Norris who were called to the scene of the accident by the operator at the junction of the Chicago & Alton and Wabash tracks. He was dazed by the collision and lost considerable blood.

Dr. Reginald Norris' hospital, where Dr. Reginald Norris was placed in charge of the case on instructions issued by Conductor Hartnsdy of the freight train, an examination disclosed a three-inch laceration to the bone in Singbusch's forehead, believed to have been caused when his head struck the wheel of the 1937 Ford V-8 the victim was driving. The concussion, Dr. Norris said, was slight, and the physician said that Singbusch would recover.

The accident occurred at 3:30 a.m. when Singbusch was on his way home. The freight train had stopped to take on water.

The force of the collision shoved back the radiator, folded the hood back to the windshield, and resulted in breaking parts of the motor block. The steering wheel was bent and the front seat of the sedan was turned around partially.

Arthur Bouliware was the engineer of the freight.

Two skating rinks are now available for use of lovers of this sport, one at the Jefferson school play ground and the other at the Illinois College athletic field.

These two areas were flooded Saturday and are now ready for use. A bank of snow surrounds the flooded area and weak spots were fortified to make secure.

Arrangements have been made to keep these locations flooded at intervals as long as it remains cold so that skating and other ice sports could be enjoyed by those wishing to do so.

Owing to the fact that most of the snow was scraped off the fields before flooding them a smooth surface was obtained in the freezing process. The locations were made available by the co-operation of the public school authorities and the officials of Illinois College. The rinks were constructed by the YMCA-WPA recreation project, under the supervision of Fred Darr and A. D. Hermann. A large truck loaned by Wise and Dowland was used to pull the grader used to build the bank around the edge of the rinks. Fire Chief Frank Sullivan supervised the work of flooding the areas. The use of both rinks is free to the public.

Receive Appeal for Red Cross Funds to Aid Flood Victims

Telegram to Chairman Henry J. Rodgers Asks for Money Here

The following telegram was received yesterday by the chairman of the Morgan County Red Cross chapter, Henry J. Rodgers: "St. Louis, Missouri, Jan. 22, 1937. In order to meet hourly increasing need of flood victims in eight states, the Red Cross is calling on the people of the United States for minimum relief fund of two million dollars. Reports received late tonight indicate total of two hundred seventy thousand men, women and children driven from their homes and now depending upon Red Cross for emergency relief, including food, shelter, bedding, medical attention, and warm clothing. Raging blizzard and freezing weather in many flooded sections add to suffering of refugees, and greatly increases need for instant relief. Real sure people of your community will wish to aid promptly and generously. Urge you take immediate action to raise your chapter quota of 190 dollars, reporting to midwestern office, St. Louis. Cary T. Grayson, national chairman."

When the elements of nature combine and have a big demonstration, man must step aside and view the power and destruction displayed.
